

Club night, 12 September

Graham Bailey

'Partylite night'!!!! 12th Sept 2006.

"A what night?" did I hear you say? They came in their droves, intrigued and curious (and so they should be) by the topic of the evening.

With a title that says it all really, this was intended to be an evening for the ladies and partners in our lives, with the focus on a most relaxing and 'different' kind of evening that only candles and their ambience can bring!!

Narjas did her best bless her, but with such an uncouth gathering of individuals intent on just switching a 100 watt light bulb on and off to create their 'ambience', she was always going to be struggling, still, a very fine delivery coupled with a most attractive presentation. Well done Narjas.

Congrats to y'all!

Happy birthday Dave!

With roughly 38 of you in attendance, the evening's raffle was as usual well supported with all present generously subscribing in the vain hope of investing in something of worth, with 9 prizes on the table, 3 of you had to go home with a sound recovery, the rest... well you takes your chance as the saying goes!!

'Test passes' at last the famine has abated, with both Paul and James Wilkinson along with young Matthew Smart all present to receive their cherished certificates from the voluptuous Sally Charlton. Very well done to you all, especially the focused Matthew.

Great effort all round boys.

We celebrated Dave Butcher's forthcoming birthday by sharing his impromptu birthday cake presented by young Di, indeed very much a surprise for him, happy birthday again Dave.

'Captain Canary's Chirps'

Enid Wilkinson nice to meet you Enid, well done for dragging your boys along to the meet, we all hope that you might 'flavour a future club night again some time.

John Skelton again, nice to meet you John, I'm sure we will all get to see you again given that you were a raffle winner!!!

Mark L.B. Commiserations Mark on the recent sad loss of your prized Gixer, removed without trace from your place of work, we can only hope the low life get their just rewards.

Great raffle prizes: winners ditched 'em

That's it for now I'm afraid, not much is happening out there at the moment, which is probably good news in it's self.! ♦

More gastro feedback

Martyn Hillier

You may well remember the Little Chef located on the Banbury Rd, Chipping Norton, on the junction with the Stratford Rd, which closed last year?

I am pleased to say that it has reopened, as "Ma Larkings Coffee Shop". It has been freshly and tastefully redecorated & refurnished.

The staff are young, polite & helpful, & I couldn't help noticing that two of the young ladies are, well, [This is a family publication! – Ed]

Prices - as well as the usual breakfasts, a generous bacon bap with a cup of coffee, or a pot of tea, plus refill, is all of £2.99.

We arrived there at 10am on Bank Holiday Monday, and by half past the bikes were streaming in, which bodes well for their weekend business, especially as it was showery day, so not the most tempting day for a rideout.

You may like to bear it in mind, should you be out that way. ♦